A Passionate Life Is Attractive

Hello, Everyone!

Passion adds spice to our lives. Passion comes from a convergence of desire, commitment and creation. People are passionate when they are fully contributing.

- What does it look like when someone is truly passionate about life?
- They fully express themselves.
- They enjoy being human.
- They work towards a vision, purpose or meaning.
- They are excited about life.
- They are internally driven, not externally controlled.

How To Find Your Passion

Make peace with your life. Take what you got and make it over in a new way. Your way. Let go of regrets. When this task is done, you will gain freedom to explore your passions and desires. You will be available to live out whatever passions are within.

Get in touch with a favorite memory of school. Your past can speak lots of rich memories. What were you doing that was joyful? What did you enjoy creating? Journal about these memories.

Notice what you are doing when you lose all sense of time. Usually this is good. It means you are involved. Discover people who are interesting and fun. They probably have been that way a long time— you can tell it when they talk about their lives. They've had adventures, tried new things and have lots of interests. They speak with passion. You get excited listening to them. Reach out to these people. You'll catch what they got and this is good.

“Men of reason have endured, men of passion have lived.” - Unknown

Steps For Becoming More Passionate About Your Life

- What are 3 things that really excite you? Write them down and then do them.
- Set goals that excite and compel you.
- Develop a personal vision and mission statement that turns you on.
- Develop a compassion for those in your community.
- Write down your personal definition of Passion, then place it where you can see it everyday.
- Create a theme for your life this year. For example: the year of Abundance and Prosperity, the Year of Love and Passion, or the Year of Learning and Adventure. You get the idea!
- Make a list of what you want, not just what you hope for, but what you really want.
- Create friendships and alliances with passionate people and learn from them.

“Your reward for passion is the wonderful way it feels to be passionate, and the incredible things that pour into your life when you are.” - Marianne Williamson ☐
